GBOKONIYI COMMUNITY CARE

A People-Centered Initiative for Health, Education and Humanitarian Support

OUR INITIATIVES

Rest-In-Hope Healthcare Services
Preventive Care • Health Education • Referrals (Harrisburg, PA & Abeokuta)

Rest-In-Hope Nigeria Educational Initiative (RIHN)
Education Support Scholarship • Youth & Skills Development

Rest-In-Hope Senior & Homecare
Support for Older Adults and Families (Harrisburg, PA)

Gbokoniyi Community Care Programs
Community Outreach Health • Nutrition • Welfare Humanitarian Support

STAY CONNECTED • STAY HEALTHY

Weekly Health Reminder

Simple Steps for a Healthier You and Your Family

Know Your Numbers
Check your blood pressure and blood sugar.

Eat Well
Choose balanced, local and affordable meals.

Move More
Be active in a way that suits you.

Rest Well
Get enough sleep and manage stress.

APPLY FOR SUPPORT TODAY!

Visit our website to learn more, request guidance, and apply for available support across all our initiatives.

www.gbokoniyi.org

Health Education | Community Health Support | Education Assistance | Senior & Homecare Support | Food & Humanitarian Assistance | Referrals & Resources

Serving with Compassion. Impacting Lives.

A Gbokoniyi Agenda for the People

GBOKONIYI COMMUNITY CARE

The Gbokoniyi–Anifowose Agenda for the People

A VISION OF HOPE, DIGNITY, OPPORTUNITY, AND SERVICE

GBOKONIYI JR. FOR THE PEOPLE

A Message to Our People

My fathers, my mothers, my brothers and sisters, our respected traditional rulers, distinguished elders, hardworking youths, market women, artisans, and the good people of Ogun State:

To the gallant men and women of the Nigerian Army, Navy, and Air Force; the Nigeria Police Force; the Nigeria Security and Civil Defence Corps; the Federal Road Safety Corps; the Federal Fire Service and other emergency responders; our veterans and retired service personnel—I respectfully acknowledge your service and sacrifice.

Ẹ kú ojọ meta.

From the rising sun to the plains of Abeokuta South, from Omida to Kuto, from Igbeyin to Ake, from Onikolobo to Ojere, from Adigbe to the communities of Abeokuta North, I bring you a message of hope, unity, and a better tomorrow.

I Speak for the People

- The pepper seller who rises before sunrise.
- The meat seller who works tirelessly.
- The market women of Omida and Kuto.
- Our mechanics, artisans, traders, farmers, teachers, and civil servants.
- Omo iyá aláta, the orphaned, the disabled, and the vulnerable.
- The elderly who have given their strength and wisdom.
- The young people whose dreams deserve a chance.
- The men and women in uniform who protect our communities and nation.

A Legacy of Service

My late father, Pa Gbokoniyi, left a legacy of family, responsibility, dignity, and community. As a son of the Gbokoniyi family, and through my union with the Anifowose family, I recognize the responsibility that comes with this heritage. A true legacy is measured by what we do for others—educating children, caring for the elderly, supporting families, and improving lives. That is the foundation of the Gbokoniyi–Anifowose legacy of service.

Gbokoniyi Community Care: Compassion in Action

We have established Gbokoniyi Community Care, our overarching initiative that brings together:

- Rest-In-Hope Healthcare Services — accessible, affordable, preventive healthcare in Abeokuta, Nigeria, and Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.
- Rest-In-Hope Nigeria Educational & Humanitarian Initiative (RIHN) — education support, youth development, and care for vulnerable families.

Gbokoniyi Community Care is not just an organization. It is a promise— that compassion will become action, dignity will not be determined by wealth, and service to humanity will remain at the heart of everything we do.

Honoring Those Who Serve and Protect

We honor our soldiers, police officers, naval and air force personnel, civil defence officers, road safety personnel, firefighters, and emergency responders who dedicate their lives to our safety. Their service, sacrifices, and the needs of their families, veterans, and the widows and children of fallen heroes must never be forgotten. We also believe in professionalism, accountability, respect for human rights, and a strong partnership between the people and those who protect them.

Our Vision for the People

We want an Ogun State where:

- Market women receive the support they deserve.
- Farmers can produce and sell profitably.
- Mechanics and artisans have the tools and opportunities to grow.
- Young people can learn skills, create jobs, and build successful futures.
- The elderly can live with dignity.
- Those who serve and protect our communities are treated with fairness.
- Healthcare and education are accessible and strengthened.

Leadership Is Service

Leadership is not defined by office, title, or political influence, but by responsibility, integrity, compassion, and service. You do not need a political position to begin improving lives. Our work through Gbokoniyi Community Care shows that meaningful change starts with ordinary people taking responsibility for their communities.

A Call for a Better Tomorrow

From the markets of Abeokuta to our workshops, from our classrooms to the homes of our elderly, from the pepper seller at Omida to the meat seller at Kuto, from Onikolobo to Ojere, Adigbe, Ake, and beyond—let our message be clear: The people must come first!

The future we seek will be built by all of us— our families, youths, professionals, farmers, traders, teachers, artisans, public servants, serving personnel, and veterans.

Closing Declaration

I am Dr. Yomi Sodimu, Gbokoniyi Jr., a son of the soil. I carry the legacy of those before us and the responsibility to future generations. The greatest honor is not to be served by the people, but to serve them. When we put humanity first, invest in education, promote accessible healthcare, honor those who serve, and protect the dignity of ordinary people, we build a legacy that will outlive us.

Our mission is service.
Our foundation is compassion.
Our strength is unity.
Our commitment is to the people.
Our vision is a better tomorrow for every community.

Gbokoniyi Jr. for the People!

Gbokoniyi–Anifowose Agenda for the People!

Gbokoniyi Community Care — Compassion in Action!

Together for a Better Ogun State!

Ẹ ṣẽun púpọ̀!

God bless our fathers and mothers, our children and future generations, the men and women who serve and protect our nation, the good people of Ogun State, and the Federal Republic of Nigeria.