Parents Military Weekend

Rook-Breakout

PMW started off with a bang with Rooks being woken up at 5:30am and filed into the Sunborn Mess Hall to be fed hard boiled eggs and toast. “Don’t eat too much or you will regret it later” said the Battalion SgMg Cadlee Jarvis, as the Rooks prepared to start the rigours break-out PT. The PT started off with a group march 5k around Waynesboro stopping at different areas to be spoken to by the leaders about topics, such as perseverance, honor, and integrity. After the depleting run the Rooks had no time to rest when they were immediately put into squads to complete several PT stations. Some of the stations included bear-crawls, hill-sprints, and fireman's-carry. After the Rooks endeavored the dreadful PT, they were placed in front of a 4-ton bus and were told to pull the bus. The Rooks: covered in sweat, mud and tears, used every sinch of energy they had left in their body, to pull the bus but still couldn't even budge it an inch. This is when the most emotional part of all of PT erupts. The Seniors come to help the rooks slug the bus, and in doing so they accept the Rooks or New Cadets into the corps as Old Men.

Looking Into The Corps-

This edition of “Looking Into The Corps” will focus on the 4 First Sergeants of the Battalion. These 4 Junior class cadets are bestowed on the most honorable, focused, and dedicated young men. Their responsibilities include carrying out orders that the 4 company commanders delegate to them, giving accountability reports at all formations., and leading the companies during Physical Training in the mornings. This year's first sergeants are Micheal Ball for Alpha Company, John Saun for Bravo Company, Gavin Sengar for Charlie Company, and finally Joe Christian for Band Band Company. Their hard work and dedication during this time of distress is vitally important for Fishburne to stay afloat for the remainder of the school year. We thank them for their work ethic and the integrity they take in performing their duties.
