MIMI KARSH

Mimi Karsh Narducci is a choreographer, dancer, and actress specializing in television choreography. She has a B.A. in Theater Arts from UCLA with an emphasis in Acting. It's this acting background that she brings with her into her dance work with actors. She knows their language and can put even the most novice dancer at ease for their scenes. She has worked with A list celebrities choreographing for numerous tv shows including; Modern Family, Splitting Up Together, Atypical, Vampire Diaries, Life In Pieces, Switched At Birth, The Mindy Project, and more. She has been working steadily as a television choreographer for over ten years, and prior to that she was an assistant choreographer to Mary Ann Kellogg for three years, working on shows such as Mad Men and The Office. She has an extensive amount of experience being on set, working under time constraints, and working with actors to make them comfortable and confident for their dance scenes.

Mimi is trained in all styles of dance but her specialty is ballroom dancing. She competed and toured the world as a ballroom dancer, performing at The Super Bowl, The Emmys, and on countless commercials/tv shows/movies. As a working choreographer and dancer, she continues to train in new areas constantly. She is currently training in pole dancing and has performed in numerous shows.

Mimi's house is filled with artists as well. She is a mom to two little dancers ages seven and three, and her husband Mike Narducci is a tv writer/producer.
