

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Heather Christian Bush, Author.

Heather Christian Bush is a bold, unapologetic voice for anyone who loves fiercely and lives fearlessly. A college educated psychology major, she later switched career paths while transitioning into motherhood she now owns her own nail salon and is licensed as a nail technician and manages her husband's music career! She enthusiastically writes from the heart with brutal honesty about her own personal life experiences to challenges like societal norms, redefining what loyalty looks like, the true power of strength in a marriage, and what real commitment looks like Vs. the reality of living it. Her writing is raw, emotional, and candid—reflecting the essence and depth of passion that define her journey. Now she has decided to give the world an unfiltered up close and direct view into her marriage to musician, army veteran, and convicted felon Robert Ryan Jacob Bush in her debut memoir My Life: As a Felon's Wife (Unscripted!) She steps into the spotlight not just as a devoted wife, but as a southern raised woman from rural West Virginia and mother who refuses to be silenced, judged, or underestimated.
